

INVITING NOMINATIONS

NARROMINE | GILGANDRA | NARRABRI

INLAND RAIL COMMUNITY CONSULTATIVE COMMITTEES

The Australian Rail Track Corporation (ARTC) is establishing community consultative committees (CCC) for the Narromine to Narrabri Inland Rail project. Consultative committees are a forum where Inland Rail information can be shared between the project team and the community, topics of interest discussed and issues and concerns addressed. The role of the committee is to bring representative views to the committee and to help disseminate information throughout the community.

Three committees will be established, one each for the areas generally around Narromine, Gilgandra and Narrabri, recognising that landowners and communities face different issues for ARTC to address as the project investigations progress.

ARTC is calling for nominations for people who wish to represent their community and are interested in being on one of the committees. People can either nominate themselves as an individual or be nominated to represent a community, local area or industry.

Each committee will be made up of community members with a range of backgrounds and interests.

Each committee will be facilitated by an independent chair and the first round of committee meetings will be held in the weeks commencing 11 June or 18 June 2018.
